Art Unit: 1714

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-11 and 15-17 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-13 of U.S. Patent No. 6,441,068. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the bisphenol A as X in claims 1 and 3 meets the instant phosphorous compound.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1, 6, 8-10, 12 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Improper Markush language is recited in claims 1, 8-10, 12 and 17, and an insertion of "the group consisting of" after "selected from" is needed. In claim 6, a substitution of "comprising" in line 7 with "consisting" is needed. The recited "derivatives" in claim 8 is indefinite absent particular substituents or functional groups. The recited EP(D)M in claim 8 is indefinite and a full chemical spelling is needed. The recited "may be selected, are selected" in claim 17 is confusing and deletion of said "may be selected," is suggested.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over WO 99/07782.

Art Unit: 1714

Note that US Pat. 6,569,930 is an English equivalent to WO 99/07782 (based on DE 197 34 661), and the examiner points out said US patent.

US (WO) teaches a flame resistant composition comprising aromatic polycarbonate, graft polymer, a phosphorous compound, fluorinated polyolefin and inorganic compound in abstract and at col. 2, line 27 to col. 3, line 12. The instant phosphorus compound is taught at col. 8, line 30. 34-35, and col. 12, Component D.1 which is free of other homolog or derivative. The instant graft polymer is taught at cols. 5-6, and the graft base of a preferred graft polymer in lines 21-30 has the instant Tg as evidenced by claim 1. Various additives and molded articles are taught at col. 10, lines 36-47.

Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Eckel et al (US 6,569,930). Eckel et al are discussed above, and thus the instant invention lacks novelty.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Eckel et al (US 6,441,068).

Eckel et al teach the instant composition throughout the patent as in the US US 6,569,930. The phosphorous compound D of claim 1 with the bisphenol A as X of claim 3 meets the instant phosphorous compound. Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.

Art Unit: 1714

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Eckel et al (US 6,569,930) in view of Castelnovo et al (US 3,919,353).

Eckel et al teach the graft polymer based on US Pat. 3,919,353 at the bottom of page 10, and said US Pat. 3,919,353 teaches Tg of less than 10°C in table of col. 3 and at col. 6, line 30, respectively. Note that homopolymers of both methacrylate and styrene monomer components of the MBS have Tg of more than 100°C, and thus the graft base, polybutadiene, obviously meets the instant Tg of less than 10°C.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of invention to utilize a graft polymer with a graft base having Tg of less than 10°C in Eckel et al with teaching of Castelnovo et al since Eckel et al teach Castelnovo et al.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over DE 198 53 105.

The translated DE teaches the instant composition at page 2, line 26 to page 4, line 7. The graft polymers are taught at page 10-13, and the ABS graft polymer at page 12, line 29 inherently meets the instant Tg for the graft base, (poly)butadiene. The instant phosphorus compound is taught at page 17, line 20. Other additives and molded articles are taught at pages 21-23.

Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over EP 0 771 851.

Art Unit: 1714

EP teaches the instant composition in abstract and claims. The instant phosphorus compound is taught at page 6, lines 35-40, the preferred bisphenol A as R<sup>9</sup>. ABS graft polymer is seen in table 1. Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.

Claims 1-5 and 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Norris et al (US 4,246,169).

Norris et al teach the instant composition at col. 18, lines 61-62 and col. 23, structure (B) and col. 24, table. Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.
